

Dear Customers,

Tecumseh has been actively promoting R452A as one of the best options to meet F-Gas Regulation requirements and refrigerant transition for a long time.

The latest tests conducted on a larger scale on the whole Tecumseh range lead us to revise an improvement in the performance linked to the use of this refrigerant on certain models. Cooling capacity and efficiency levels obtained with R452A are getting even closer to R404A ones, for both LBP and HBP applications.

During 2nd quarter of 2017, new data will be integrated into our documentation, technical data sheet, catalogues, selection software...

Marketing Department